

DigiEduHack Solution Stockholm - DigiEduToolkit Challenge: Stockholm - DigiEduToolkit Challenge 2021

Masters - guide to digital education

Every aspect of information about education in one website

According to CNN 84% of students feel this problem. In addition, student rate, who are going to take master's course, is increased by 44% in last 20 years. And for 2030 expectation is about 50% rise. 300M people are disturbed, because of much fragmented information it's hard to make decisions.

Team: Masters

Team members

Mariam Papukashvili, Revaz Migineishvili, Zaal Siordia, Nika Jologua.

Members roles and background

Zaal Siordia-Idea, business.

Nika Jologua-idea, design

Revaz Migineishvili-additional ideas

Mariam Papukashvili-motivation

Contact details

jonas.backelin@outlook.com

Solution Details

Solution description

To solve this problem we made Masters. Website where every type of information can be gathered-like university catalogues, registration to exam, courses, funding...

Solution context

Problem can be get belief of big universities.

Solution target group

Firstly it can be our country students. After more extend for more countries.

Solution impact

Our solution make things easier and will be comfortable for leasnes to get information in ne area.

Solution tweet text

We made site for every students who need guide into education.

Solution innovativeness

Its easy for navigate, and enough for everyone. Also it can be used by any types of customers, even for persons with special needs. In this Tsituation Bot will help them, who has physical, psychical or sensorial disorders. Bot itself going to gather information and improve services.

Solution transferability

It has growth potential, for attach more people in our area.

Solution sustainability

For future: Masters is going to extend and help people to find more programs and courses about School's, Bachelor's and doctorate degrees.

Solution team work

Worked on idea: Mariam Papukashvili, Revaz Migineishvili, Zaal Siordia, Nika Jologua.